Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a letter or a page from a manuscript. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly yellowed paper. The handwriting is fluid and characteristic of the 17th or 18th century. The text is arranged in several lines, with some lines being longer than others. There are some corrections or deletions visible, such as a line that has been crossed out with a horizontal line. The text is written in a cursive script, possibly a form of English or French from the early modern period. The overall appearance is that of a historical document, possibly a personal letter or a page from a diary or journal.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a ledger or account book. The text is organized into columns by vertical lines. The first column on the left contains numbers, possibly dates or page numbers. The subsequent columns contain descriptive text and numerical entries, possibly representing monetary values or quantities. The handwriting is somewhat faded and the paper shows signs of age.
